

Newsletter 7/01/2022

Happy Fourth of July. I am getting a late start on the newsletter over lunch. We have started to water our field and this is like adding another whole job to the plate. We are praying for rain tonight. We need at least an inch to get things wetted down.

We have needed to rearrange the delivery and are struggling with vehicles. I think the small transit is fixed and ready for this week. Look for a second email to let you know about any changes to our schedule.

We have sweet cherries for this week's fruit share. We were also lucky enough to get some of Thorpe's organic lemons from their Florida farm.

There are 1/2 bushels of sweet cherries for processing available on the custom order. We will have sour cherries coming up.

The dry weather has slowed down the sweet corn, peppers and a few other things. We need a shower to help get things back on track.

Our pastures have slowed down as well. We are hoping that we can get the cows through the next couple weeks without needing to feed our stored winter feed. The hot summer can be tricky as the time between rotations of the pasture get longer. We have mostly cool season grasses and they do not grow well in the heat.

On the other hand the green beans, peas, summer squash and purslane are loving the heat. I hope to have all of those in the next couple weeks.

Our custom order form can be used any week of your delivery to add meats, bread, sweet treats, eggs or other things to your order. We will be offering larger quantities of produce as the season goes on. We will highlight in our newsletters what is available.

Thanks for all of your support.
